Motion to be considered

Motion:

It is proposed that SDC is wound up. Rule 24 provides for winding up.

(Reasons: Since SDC's inauguration in 2007, awareness of sustainability issues within the community has increased and a number of local organisations are now working on these issues. There has been a drop off in volunteers to run SDC.)

Andy spoke to 2013's Option A: That SDC campaigns more vigorously for members and reactivates activities. He discussed OFN's gratitude to SDC as it's helped maintain and further OFN's activities. Andy has stood for the SDC committee to work towards establishing a more formal alliance between the two organisations, keeping agreed upon objectives in mind.

Injy said there is a lot of potential to get young people along to SDC activities and events; she's keen to promote SDC among the student body. Like Andy, she spoke against the motion.

Alax from Geia – his group works with many students who are interested in sustainability issues. He spoke of the usefulness of having a well-established organisation such as SDC and would like to strengthen business interest in such issues. He sees a recent 'mood' for accepting sustainable change among businesses in Dunedin.

Simonne spoke of how encouraged she's been by the positive feedback SDC's received about its role and its newsletter and this has given her a desire to enable SDC to continue, She's keen on seeing SDC draw on people's expertise and energy for specific tasks.

Kristen spoke of the opportunities e.g. the newsletter gives for like-minded groups to be aware of and connect with each other.

Mark spoke of the need for more strength within SDC if it's to continue and queried who would be willing to take on the roles John & Jenny have said they'd like to step out of.

John put the motion. Unanimously opposed.

Simonne thanked the past co-chairs, John and Jenny and all other past committee members. She takes the position of Chair.

Andy moved that the motion "That SDC campaigns more vigorously for members and reactivates activities" be accepted, seconded by Kristen. Carried.

Niki offered her help in specific reporting for the Charities Commission, e.g. setting up a new template.

General Business

John named and thanked all committee members for the roles they have carried out this year, reiterated SDC's thanks to Nora Calvert and the Polytechnic.

Tom McKinlay promoted a meeting about possible public sharing schemes for Low Emission Vehicles, talked about the increased interest in many pockets throughout NZ, is holding meeting on Sunday 28 August, 3pm, Valley Community Workspace.

Kristen spoke of the Polytech's interest in supporting the next Big Green Challenge with a $5,000 donation to re-establish the fund; sees BGC as an opportunity to network and showcase strong local sustainable initiatives. Polytech wants to have some involvement in that. SDC thanks the Polytech for this support.

Peter – discussed OFN’s relationship with SDC, said other groups would also welcome such support, Mark spoke of alliances in the past, such as Vodafone Foundation.

Simonne promoted the up coming mayoral electoral forum

AGM closed at 6.20pm

Sustainable Summits Conference – talk by John Cocks

John attended this conference at Aoraki/Mt Cook earlier in August.

Its purpose: addressing issues of over-crowding and perceived misuse of the back- country. In 2010, Roger Robinson had spoken at conference of the human waste on Denali. This conference addressed waste, the human impact and its management.

Ngai Tahu opened with a whakataui, fitting for a conference where addressing the cultural aspects of place is a new dimension.

Speakers addressed the natural hazards – mountain collapse, glaciers & their retreats, earthquakes . . . there was a plea for reduced emissions.

Problems were mentioned, too, with helicopters, algae in tarns.

Heat loss and moisture were addressed as the great challenges for building in cold climates, in NZ wind is a main challenge.

Nepalese example – ‘Trash for Cash’ sherpas taking material items in and waste materials out.

Aoraki Park Plan is under review. Ngai Tahu will have a major role in that review.

Over-riding theme was the fact that the backcountry is a complex environment and addressing issues of use remains challenging. A big concern is that equity of access for New Zealanders is being eroded – e.g. low income families are priced out of many areas.

DOC was a major conference sponsor, and they too, are under multiple pressures, biodiversity issues, huge growth in popularity, tourism, identifying and publicising hazards. Not all the various groups that use and value the mountains were represented at the conference.

John was thanked by all for a most interested & thoughtful presentation.

Item 3. Chairperson’s report – August 2016 – August 2017

SDC Vision

The Society aims to facilitate a positive, secure and sustainable future for Dunedin City in the face of challenges posed by climate change, declining energy security, and unsustainable resource use.

SDC Objectives:

(a) The Society conducts research and disseminates information on climate change, declining energy security, and sustainability, and promotes awareness of these issues to the wider community.

(b) The Society aims to influence individuals, businesses and governments to adapt their behaviours and policies to reflect the importance of these issues.

(c) The Society fosters linkages between organisations with objectives similar to, or complementary to, the Society’s own Vision and Objectives.

Events

September 2016 – organised Dunedin Mayoral candidates election forum – 9 of the 11 candidates participated and approx. 70 people attended (obj. a and b)

March 2017 – organised talk by Robert Howell, author of “Investing in People and Planet” on ethical investment with particular focus on fossil fuel investment. Wrote related article for the Star (obj. a and b)

The committee has considered running a lecture series or a workshop on how to make submissions, but this idea is currently on hold, due to lack of time and uncertainty whether there is a need/desire for these given the other opportunities in Dunedin.

Submissions to public consultations

To support SDC’s work in responding to Dunedin City Council consultations, the committee met former DCC councillor Jinty McTavish to discuss sustainability-related issues likely to face the Council in the next couple of years. This was particularly useful for identifying several commitments related to sustainability which the Council has made in the past, but which have not so far been implemented.

We made substantial submissions on Dunedin City Council’s Parks and Recreations Strategy (December), Annual Plan 2017 (April) and Dunedin Destination Plan (July). (obj. b)

Big Green Challenge

In association with Otago Polytechnic, who generously provided the grant money, we ran another Big Green Challenge, awarding grants of $500 each to 10 different organisations for sustainability projects. The grant-holders are listed on our website and there will be updates on the progress of their projects on the website and the Big Green Challenge Facebook page. (obj. a, b and c)

Grants

We have continued to provide sponsorship for Maureen Howard’s “Eco-Living in Action” radio show on Otago Access Radio – approx. $500 every six months. We may not be able to continue this next year. OAR is not able to give us a figure for radio listeners, but in 2016 Eco-Living In Action had 5228 podcast hits, which was in OAR’s top three programmes for the year. The show is now being aired in Auckland as well. (obj. a)

Relationships

Our Food Network – we have continued to have a close relationship with Our Food Network. Andy Barratt is on both committees and SDC provides banking services for OFN. (obj. c)

Seniors for Climate Action Network – we have been in more frequent communication with SCAN this year and are part of a group with them working on a Dunedin Sustainability Expo (obj. c)

Otago Polytechnic kindly sponsored our Big Green Challenge for the first time. (obj. c)

We worked with Forest and Bird and Wise Response on the Mayoral Candidates Forum.

Communications

Website

We are aware that our website is in need of review. The committee has not found time to address this in the past year, but sees it as a fairly high priority once the bulk of the work on the Big Green Challenge is over. (obj. a, b and c?)

Newsletter

We continue to produce a newsletter publicising sustainability-related events and some items of news. The distribution list has fallen from 383 in September 2016 to 377 in July 2017. The very minor reduction is mostly due to people moving away from Dunedin. We believe the readership is higher than the list numbers, because it gets passed on via other mailing lists.

The Chair would like to hand over the newsletter production to someone else – one volunteer took over briefly but was unable to keep it up because of other commitments. Currently we have a reduced frequency of circulation, with the plan being to send out a full newsletter once a month and one short update for urgent items in between the main editions. (obj. a)

Facebook

We have revived our Facebook page by posting some events and news items on it, though not all that regularly, again through lack of time. The page has 109 followers. This could no doubt be increased if we felt it worth putting the effort into this rather than other activities. One post (on soft plastic recycling) reached over 1,000 people, but most only reach between 10 and 30. (obj. a and b)

Interviews

The Chair has been interviewed on Eco-living in Action and Sustainable Lens this year. (obj. a and b)

Organisational

Committee has met six times during the year and agreed some matters by email correspondence.

The new chairperson, secretary and treasurer have settled into their roles and are very grateful for the generous support provided by the previous postholders, John Cocks and Jenny Neilson.

We have struggled with bank bureaucracy at the NZCU over the last few months to get our bank signatories updated, but this has now been done so that there are four available signatories.

The chairperson recently attended a seminar on Governance and Management of not-for-profit organisations, run by the Chamber of Commerce.

Discontinued

Green Drinks (obj. c)

Thanks

To committee members for all their hard work.

Otago Polytechnic – Big Green Challenge funding and making rooms available for free for events and our AGM.

Simonne Wood

Chair

Item 4c. Proposed operating budget 2017-18

This budget year thus far has seen SDC allocate funds to two projects: the Big Green Challenge and Maureen Howard's Radio show. SDC was successful in gaining a grant from the Otago Polytechnic of $5000 to help run the Big Green Challenge.

As per the current budget allocation for the 2017/18 financial year in Table One there is a projected operational deficit of -$2239.92. This results in a projected position of $2638.04 at 31st March 2018.

It is thus proposed that Sustainable Dunedin City sets a financial goal to equalise or achieve an operational surplus in the 2017/18 financial year. This can be achieved through setting a target for revenue gathering of $2500. Doing so would result in an operational surplus of $260.08 and a projected position of $5138.04 as at 31st March 2018.

Suggested sources of revenue raising include:

- Fundraising Hosting talks, panels, movie screenings etc
- Grants Seeking out and applying for available grants.
- Donations Appealing for donations through subscribers.

Table One- Current Budget Allocation for 2017/18 Financial Year

Item 5. Annual Plan 2017-18

- Review communications – in particular the purpose and content of the newsletter, website and Facebook.
- Increase the reach of the newsletter, website and Facebook page (if supported by first item).
- Run an election forum in August/September 2017
- Submission on Dunedin City Council long-term plan and other consultations as they arise.
- Run another Big Green Challenge if capacity and funding available.
- Seek donations from members and other individuals to replenish reserves and enable future occasional funding needs to be met, e.g. for events, speakers, website upgrade.
- Consider obtaining grant-funding for particular projects
- Consider working with other groups on particular projects.

Item 6: Election of committee members

The current officers and committee members are:

Simonne Wood	Chairperson and newsletter editor
Andy Barratt	Secretary
Injy Johnston	Treasurer
Mark Jackson	Website/IT
Nicky Chapman
John Cocks
Jenny Neilson

Stuart Mathieson has recently resigned from the committee.

Nominations for the officers and other committee members will be circulated 2 days before the meeting.

The Society's rules currently provide for a role of Spokesperson, so that will be included in the nominations.
